DESIGN GROUP, REDRESS SYSTEM FOR SURVIVORS OF ABUSE IN CARE: APPOINTMENT

Proposal

- 1 This paper outlines my intention to appoint Dr Annabel Ahuriri-Driscoll and Ruth Jones QSM as Co-Chairs of the Design Group, Redress System for Survivors of Abuse in Care for seven-month terms commencing on 1 April 2023 and expiring on 31 October 2023.

Background

- 2 The need for and intention to develop a new, independent survivor-focused redress system for survivors of abuse in care was agreed by Cabinet in December 2021 [SWC-21-MIN-0204 refers] following receipt of the Abuse in Care Royal Commission of Inquiry's redress report.
- 3 The Design Group, Redress System for Survivors of Abuse in Care (the Design Group) was established by Cabinet in November 2022 [SWC-22-MIN-0214 refers]. The Design Group will produce high-level design proposals for the new redress system for Cabinet's consideration later in 2023.
- 4 As agreed by Cabinet, the Design Group comprises:
 - 4.1 a Chair appointed by the Minister for the Public Service in consultation with the Minister for Māori Crown Relations; and
 - 4.2 up to 10 members appointed by the Minister for the Public Service, drawing on the advice of a candidate review panel.
- 5 Appointees to the Design Group should demonstrate:
 - 5.1 experience in representing or advocating for survivor communities;
 - 5.2 understanding and commitment to the Treaty of Waitangi; and
 - 5.3 the ability to work collaboratively to deliver collectively agreed outcomes, including the ability to manage personal trauma.
- 6 Collectively, the Design Group's membership should have:
 - 6.1 survivors from a range of backgrounds and contexts, including Deaf, disabled, rangatahi, Pacific, Māori, LGBTQI+, residential care, faith-based care, State care, survivors who have been in prisons, survivors who have been in gangs, and survivors who live in rural areas;

IN-CONFIDENCE

- 6.2 a wide range of subject matter expertise, including mātauranga, public policy, wellbeing and oranga services, healing and restoration, and service design, development, and implementation;
 - 6.3 experience in grassroots community support and service organisations;
 - 6.4 experience applying the Treaty in systems, organisations and services; and
 - 6.5 experience working in trauma-informed ways.
- 7 A public nomination call was held for potential members of the Design Group. A candidate review panel, consisting of four members appointed by me is reviewing all nominations, interviewing potential appointees, and will provide me with advice on recommended appointees in March 2023.

Comment

- 8 The Design Group will have significant visibility amongst survivors of abuse, need to work at pace, and consider potentially complex issues in the development of high-level proposals for a new redress system. The full terms of reference for the Design Group are to be considered by the Cabinet Social Wellbeing Committee shortly [SWC-22-MIN-0214 refers].
- 9 Given the visibility and nature of the Design Group's work I consider a Co-Chair model, with one of the Chairs being a survivor, would help the Group to successfully fulfil its design purpose. Co-Chairs will
- 9.1 help give survivors and the wider public confidence that key perspectives are helping inform the development of the new redress system; and
 - 9.2 allow the leadership workload to be shared, reducing the burden that would otherwise be experienced by a single survivor Chair.
- 10 I therefore intend to appoint Dr Annabel Ahuriri-Driscoll and Ruth Jones QSM as Co-Chairs of the Design Group for seven-month terms. The roles are newly created, so no transition arrangements are required.
- 11 Dr Ahuriri-Driscoll and Ms Jones' appointments will provide the Design Group with strong Co-Chairs who fulfil the core requirements set out in paragraph 5 and together bring much of the experience sought as per paragraph 6. Dr Ahuriri-Driscoll is a Māori health and wellbeing academic who has served on a number of working groups and committees and is a survivor. Ms Jones is an experienced facilitator and disability leader, with a broad range of governance experience. The attached Candidate CV Forms provide detailed overviews of Dr Ahuriri-Driscoll and Ms Jones' expertise.

Representativeness of appointment

- 12 As the first appointees to the Design Group, the representativeness of Dr Ahuriri-Driscoll and Ms Jones' appointments cannot be confirmed. As wahine Māori that have strong connections to diverse communities, including survivors and disabled people, Dr Ahuriri-Driscoll and Ms Jones provide a strong set of perspectives that will help with the representativeness of the Design Group's full membership.

- 13 Cabinet has agreed the Design Group will have a gender balance and strong Māori representation, together with an appropriate mix of skills and experience. This will be an important consideration in selecting the proposed appointees to the Design Group and will be reflected in the paper brought to the Committee in April 2023 on those appointments.

Remuneration

- 14 The Design Group is classified as a Group 4, Level 1 Other Body under the Cabinet Fees Framework. The fee for the Chair is $1,250 per day, which is consistent with the Fees Framework. The fee for members is $850 per day, which is also consistent with the Fees Framework.

Appointment process and consultation

- 15 I can confirm that an appropriate process has been followed in selecting the proposed appointees, based on the process agreed by Cabinet in agreeing to establish the Design Group and appoint the Design Group Chair. In summary, that process comprised engagement with key representative groups (including the National Iwi Chairs Forum, the Abuse in Care Royal Commission of Inquiry, and survivor representatives), reviewing the candidates' CVs, several discussions with the candidates, and consultation with the Minister for Māori Crown Relations, before coming to the Committee.
- 16 This process was appropriate because the proposed appointee will chair a group that will have significant visibility amongst survivors of abuse as it undertakes a high-level design process for a new system that will potentially assist a large number of New Zealanders to receive redress for the abuse they suffered across multiple care settings.

Conflicts of interest

- 17 I can confirm that appropriate enquiries concerning conflicts of interest have been carried out, in accordance with the Public Service Commission appointment guidelines, to identify any conflicts of interest that could reasonably be identified, and no conflicts of interest have been identified.
- 18 While as a survivor of abuse Dr Ahuriri-Driscoll is expected to be able to access the new redress system, her experiences as a survivor are a key perspective needed to assist in the high-level design of the system and are therefore not considered a potential conflict.
- 19 Police background checks have been completed, with no issues identified for the candidates.

Publicity

- 20 A press statement may be issued once the appointments have been approved and Dr Ahuriri-Driscoll and Ms Jones have been consulted on whether they wish to have the appointment announced now, or when all appointments to the Design Group are completed.

Recommendation

- 21 It is recommended that the Committee note my intention to appoint Dr Annabel Ahuriri-Driscoll and Ruth Jones QSM as Co-Chairs of the Design Group, Redress System for Survivors of Abuse in Care for a seven-month term of office commencing on 1 April 2023 and expiring on 31 October 2023.

Design Group, Redress System for Survivors of Abuse in Care
Public Service Portfolio

Brief Outline of the Functions and Responsibilities of the Organisation

Fixed-term group to produce a high-level design of a new independent, trauma-informed redress system for survivors of abuse in care.

The Design Group is required to provide high-level design proposals to the Minister for the Public Service by June 2023. The proposals must cover:

- feedback on the redress system's intended principles, purpose, functions, and scope;
- how the system should safely connect with and support survivors and whānau to navigate their redress journey – how redress needs to “look and feel” to give survivors confidence in the redress system and to provide them with a safe, accessible, trauma informed, and culturally responsive experience;
- the types and mix of services and supports that should ideally be provided as part of each of the redress system's functions;
- feedback on draft apology and payment frameworks, draft redress models, and example system proposals, provided by the Crown Response to the Abuse in Care inquiry, with a focus on what is needed to support meaningful recognition of the harms people have experienced; and
- an outline of the critical issues that will need to be considered as part of the detailed design and implementation planning, needed to give effect to the overall design.

DESIGN AND ADVISORY GROUPS, REDRESS SYSTEM FOR SURVIVORS OF ABUSE IN CARE: APPOINTMENTS

Proposal

- 1 This paper outlines my intention to appoint nine members to the Design Group and 18 members to the Advisory Groups, Redress System for Survivors of Abuse in Care for a six-month term commencing on 15 May 2023 and expiring on 31 October 2023.

Background

- 2 The need for and intention to develop a new independent, survivor-focussed redress system for survivors of abuse in care was agreed by Cabinet in December 2021 [SWC-21-MIN-0204 refers], following receipt of the Abuse in Care Royal Commission of Inquiry's redress report.
- 3 The Design and Advisory Groups, Redress System for Survivors of Abuse in Care were established by Cabinet in November 2022 [SWC-22-MIN-0214 refers]. The Design Group will produce high-level design proposals for the new redress system for Cabinet's consideration later in 2023. The Advisory Groups will support the Design Group.
- 4 As agreed by Cabinet, the Design Group comprises up to 10 members appointed by the Minister for the Public Service, drawing on the advice of a candidate review panel. In addition, the Design Group has two Co-Chairs, appointed by the Minister for the Public Service in consultation with the Minister for Māori Crown Relations.
- 5 As agreed by Cabinet, the Advisory Groups comprise up to 20 members in total appointed by the Minister for the Public Service, drawing on the advice of a candidate review panel. The Advisory Groups will represent specific survivor communities – Māori, Pacific, disabled, State care, and non-State care – drawn from the total membership. The number of Advisory Groups will be confirmed once the appointments are completed.
- 6 Appointees to the Design and Advisory Groups should demonstrate:
 - 6.1 experience in representing or advocating for survivor communities;
 - 6.2 understanding and commitment to the Treaty of Waitangi; and
 - 6.3 the ability to work collaboratively to deliver collectively agreed outcomes, including the ability to manage personal trauma.
- 7 Collectively, the Design and Advisory Groups' memberships should have:
 - 7.1 survivors from a range of backgrounds and contexts, including Deaf, disabled, rangatahi, Pacific, Māori, LGBTQI+, residential care, faith-based care, State

care, survivors who have been in prisons, survivors who have been in gangs, and survivors who live in rural areas;

- 7.2 a wide range of subject matter expertise, including mātauranga, public policy, wellbeing and oranga services, healing and restoration, and service design, development, and implementation;
- 7.3 experience in grassroots community support and service organisations;
- 7.4 experience applying the Treaty in systems, organisations and services; and
- 7.5 experience working in trauma-informed ways.

- 8 The Design Group Co-Chairs were appointed by me at the start of April 2023, following the agreed consultation with the Minister for Māori Crown Relations and noting by the Committee on 29 March 2023.
- 9 The terms of reference for the Design and Advisory Groups were endorsed by the Cabinet Social Wellbeing Committee on 5 April 2023.

Comment

- 10 I intend to appoint the individuals listed in Table 1 as members of the Design Group and the individuals listed in Table 2 as members of the Advisory Groups for a six-month term. The tables outline the high-level skills and expertise each proposed appointee brings to their respective group, particularly in regard the requirements set out in paragraphs 6 and 7. The attached Candidate CV Forms provide an overview of each proposed appointees' experience.

Representativeness of appointment

- 11 Cabinet has agreed the Design and Advisory Groups will have a gender balance and strong Māori representation, together with an appropriate mix of skills and experience. The proposed appointees, together with the already appointed Design Group Co-Chairs, provide a gender balance and offer strong Māori representation

(19 appointees identify as Māori). In addition, they also provide Pacific peoples, disabled people, rangatahi, and LGBTQI+ representation.

Remuneration

- 12 The Design Group is classified as a Group 4, Level 1 Other Body under the Cabinet Fees Framework. The fee for the Chair is $1,250 per day and the fee for members is $850 per day, both of which are consistent with the Fees Framework.
- 13 The Advisory Groups are also classified as Group 4, Level 1 Other Body under the Cabinet Fees Framework CO (22) 2. The fee for members is $750 per day, which is consistent with the Fees Framework.

Appointment process and consultation

- 14 I can confirm that an appropriate process has been followed in selecting the proposed appointees, based on the process agreed by Cabinet in agreeing to establish the Design and Advisory Groups. In summary, that process comprised a public nomination call, review of all nominations by a candidate review panel, interviews of shortlisted candidates by the review panel, and my consideration of the review panel's advice before coming to the Committee.
- 15 The candidate review panel consisted of four members appointed by the previous Minister for the Public Service. The review panel members were selected as senior figures with recognised mana in the kaupapa of redress and healing, advocating for or representing survivors, or in te ao Māori and mātauranga Māori. The review panel's involvement and independent advice is intended to provide survivors with increased trust in the Design and Advisory Groups' appointments.
- 16 This process was appropriate because the proposed appointees will be part of groups that will have significant visibility amongst survivors of abuse as they undertake a high-level design process for a new system that will potentially assist a large number of New Zealanders to receive redress for the abuse they suffered in care.

Conflicts of interest

- 17 I can confirm that appropriate enquiries concerning conflicts of interest have been carried out, in accordance with the Public Service Commission appointment guidelines, to identify any conflict of interest that could reasonably be identified. Potential conflicts are identified in the Candidate CV Forms and will be managed by the Design Group Co-Chairs in line with the standard conflict processes set out in the Design and Advisory Groups' terms of reference. None of the identified potential conflicts are considered to be sufficient to prevent appointment.
- 18 While 25 of the proposed appointees are survivors of abuse and therefore are expected to be able to access the new redress system, their experiences as survivors provide key perspectives needed to assist in the high-level design of the system and are therefore not considered a potential conflict.
- 19 Police background checks have been completed. Several intended appointees have historic criminal convictions. This is not unexpected when engaging with survivors due to the trauma suffered as children, young people, or vulnerable adults and its resulting behavioural effects for some survivors. Historic convictions should not automatically be a bar to appointment and can be managed through standard declaration and interest management processes, as included in the Design and Advisory Groups' terms of reference.

Publicity

20 A press statement will be issued once the appointments have been completed.

Recommendations

21 It is recommended that the Committee note my intention to appoint the following as members of the Design Group, Redress System for Survivors of Abuse in Care for a six-month year term of office commencing on 15 May 2023 and expiring on 31 October 2023:

Brief Outline of the Functions and Responsibilities of the Organisation

Fixed-term group to provide advice to the Design Group, Redress System for Survivors of Abuse in Care to produce a high-level design of a new independent, trauma-informed redress system for survivors of abuse in care.

The Advisory Group is to provide advice from a range of perspectives of different survivors of abuse in care, including Māori, Pacific people, disabled people, Deaf people, rangatahi, LGTBQI+ people, State care and faith-based care survivors.

The Design Group is required to provide high-level design proposals to the Minister for the Public Service. The proposals must cover:

- feedback on the redress system's intended principles, purpose, functions, and scope;
- how the system should safely connect with and support survivors and whānau to navigate their redress journey – how redress needs to “look and feel” to give survivors confidence in the redress system and to provide them with a safe, accessible, trauma informed, and culturally responsive experience;
- the types and mix of services and supports that should ideally be provided as part of each of the redress system's functions;
- feedback on draft apology and payment frameworks, draft redress models, and example system proposals, provided by the Crown Response to the Abuse in Care inquiry, with a focus on what is needed to support meaningful recognition of the harms people have experienced; and
- an outline of the critical issues that will need to be considered as part of the detailed design and implementation planning, needed to give effect to the overall design.
